The Best-in-Class Deboning and Trimming Belt

The Company Dovecote Park

Established in Yorkshire in 1997, Dovecote Park, a privately owned family business, are proud to supply the finest British beef, veal, and venison for the retail, fine dining, and food service sectors nationwide. Dovecote Park have a reputation for exceptional product, innovation, and industry-leading animal welfare standards. Their facilities combine traditional British butchery technique with some of the best technological prowess in the food sector.

Testimonial

«Dovecote Park are constantly experimenting with new and innovative methods of production to protect their consumers from the risk of foreign body product contamination. For this reason, we have chosen Ammeraal Beltech's new DTB modular belting.

In the past, when using other manufacturers' modular belt types we have experienced a high percentage of deep cuts on the top surface of the belt, making it difficult to clean and reducing its lifetime.

With the new DTB modular belt, we now have a modular belt on our trimming lines that offers the very best levels of longevity, because of its wear and cut resistance material properties, and less cleaning downtime because of its much easier-to-clean top surface having fewer surface cuts.

After two years of successful operation, we can highly recommend the DTB meat processing belting solution without reserve.»
